Climb-Dwellers In Arizona

What are probably the oldest remnants of the cliff-dwellers in Arizona have been discovered inside the center of an extinct volcano about twenty miles from Tucson. The ruins consist of a series of rooms made of pottery and stone implements, but so situated as to be almost inaccessible.

For my own part I despise good landlords and bad accidents. And I'd like to see those who cling to accidentals and those who cling to accidents—both groups—go down the same hole they're in it.

I felt was so fearfully discordant and my liver so feeble and languid that I scarcely took interest in anything. I had all the so-called remedies without effect until I used Parker's Tonic, which effected a permanent cure.—David Bush, A. Rock, Ark.

I have been taking your medicine, Athlaphorus and it has helped me much. I will recommend it to any one for rheumatism. I think another box making three is all, will cure me. M. A. Johnson, 12 Vine St., Lawrence, Mo.

—A woman advertises in to-day's Record for a situation as "working housekeeper."

—The initial number of the new Amherst Literary Monthly will appear the first of next term.

—"Moving time" is approaching, and there will probably be the usual shifting about in a fortnight.

—The report is that Loren A. Shaw has sold out the fish and oyster business to D. L. Clark of Westfield.

—A. F. Cushman, who is in the law office of John A. Deady in New York city, spent last Sabbath in town.

—Robins put in an appearance yesterday in the vicinity of P. E. Square. They looked rather cold and forsaken.

—The funeral exercises of Prof. Tuckerman will be held at Grace church, to-morrow afternoon (Thursday) at 2 o'clock.

—Josie Leasure of West Pelham has sold his place to Edwin Shaw for $600, making five sales in that place within a few months.

—Some of the leading divines in the eastern part of the state went East yesterday, and others went it changed to Good Friday.

—John Doherty, talker, is now located over F. H. Howe's store, where he will be glad to receive all who may be anything in the saluting line.

—Josie Kelly has created a new sign in front of Wm. Kellogg's place. He starts off with a good run of custom work in his new tailor rooms.

—A cow owned by Asa C. Smith of Belchertown, gave birth to a calf, last week, and yielded 34 quarts of milk at one milking by actual measure.

—The selectmen have undoubtedly made an excellent choice in securing the services of D. H. Tilton as night policeman, to succeed Policeman Ingram.

—An agent from the house of Wright and Dittan, Boston, was in town one day last week, and took orders for sabbatic goods, for which that house is noted.

—Spring is opening and work on the Central Mass. R. R. and Pittsfield and Housatonic park will probably begin very soon. There are some signs of the latter.

—E. W. Carpenter is again foreman of the Reformatory office, Mr. S. F. Sharp having returned to York State where he learned his trade a number of years ago.

—The County Commissioners with E. C. Davis have been several days estimating the cost of repairs and additions to the present Court House, also the cost of a new Court House.

—A gang of hounds on the Canal railroad, on Northampton getting $1.30 a day for 9 hours, struck yesterday, for $1.50; but the railroad company did not set them at.

—Rev. Charles C. Bruce of this town has received his commission, signed by Governor Robinson, as chaplain of the second regiment of infantry in the first brigade of Massachusetts state militia.

—A number of the freshmen went over to Easthampton very quietly, Friday evening, saying nothing before going or after returning, about their trip. One has a lame leg, and another a "black eye," and every one can draw his own inferences.—Ensign.

—Mr. R. G. Williams has made the announcement that she will open a private school for young ladies about Sept. 1st next. She has had long experience in educational work and has excellent references on her circular.

—Col. J. S. Crossman, commander of Mass. Division of the Sons of the Veterans, is expected by Myron F. Walker captain of this town on Wednesday evening. Mr. Clark of Northampton, was also present and assisted the officers.

—The young people of the Baptist church will repeat the drama, "The Elevator," rendered Feb. 22, at the vestry of the Baptist church, this (Wednesday) evening. A social entertainment will be indulged in after the play.

—The well-known actor Frank Mayo appears at the Northampton opera-house on the evening of the 20th inst. in the new and popular play "Nordeck." On Tuesday and Wednesday evenings 23d and 24th inst. "Old Perkins" will be given at the same house by Frank Jones in the leading part. Both entertainments are well worth attending.

—President Greenough is advertising slightly free scholarships in the agricultural college. Farmers now prepared to enter an institution to acquire a practical education might do so before long when such an opportunity is offered.

—Last Wednesday evening the "Boards" of Northampton defeated the Amherst at polo by a score of 5 to 1. The Birds played a good game and had a gentleman for an umpire. Tonight the "Comet" play the Amherst again at Palmer's hall. Will the little umpire be there again?

—Master Ralph Bligham, the boy actor, made his first appearance at the town at College hall last (Tuesday) night. His recitations and declamations were well received and merited a larger audience. Among his selections were "The old man goes to school," "Trouble in the Amer Corner," an Irish story, "Jimmy Butler and the owl," "Daddy," "The Wren," "The Herper," "The new church organ." He played the violin equally well, rendering "The crown of gold," "Home, sweet home," with variations, and three imitations, the old town pump, the old style preacher and the mocking bird.

—The Amherst band entertained the occasion with music between the acts.

—David S. Warner died at the house of his wife, Mrs. J. S. Warner, in Northampton, this (Wednesday) morning. He was the only child of Paines Warner, who died in 1855, aged 70 years. David was born Feb. 2, 1815, in the old home that stood nearly on the site where now stands the new mansion built by Rev. W. D. Herick, pastor of the College street and Maple churches. D. W. Warner removed the old Warner house several years ago and sold the lot to Mr. Herick. With exception of about a year spent in Mississippi, he has always lived in Amherst and spent much of his time about the college. He was a devoted father for that. I guess you may stop the Record. As a local character, eccentric but quick witted, he was known and read of all men especially of students. Doubtless no one outside the college faculty was more extensively known among the alumni of Amherst, and almost every graduate of the college and almost every student of the college, inquired about David Warner soon as they began to recollect reminiscences of his college days. His father left a large estate, but the whole is said to have been wasted for want of discretion and good management.

COUNTY NEWS.

HAMPSHIRE COUNTY.

BELMONT.—Mrs. Jennie Hogg is visiting in New York and also at Boston. She will be the guest of W. J. Holland.

Mrs. Kitty Porter is at Belmont. She expects to spend the winter in the place where she commenced last year. E. F. Town's new house which he is building on the site of the old Baptist church is well under way, and will be when finished a decided improvement in the appearance of the street.

Mr. John Blackmer, an old and much esteemed citizen, died at his home in town Monday evening. He has been very ill for many years, but his final illness and death was the result of a cold of the chest, some days ago. He was about 70 years of age.

The most notable of the social events of last week was the party at E. F. Town's on Thursday evening and also at the Belmont house. The latter was given by Mrs. J. B. Blackmer. About a dozen were present. The evening was very pleasantly entertained with music and a delicious collation.

Friday evening Miss Jennie Bridgman entertained a party of friends at the Belmont house. The evening was very pleasantly entertained with music and a delicious collation.

The Sunday school class of which Mr. A. H. Randall is teacher, and other friends, made Mr. Randall a surprise visit to the Belmont house on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. P. H. S. Bridgman died at his home in the village of Belmont on Thursday morning at the age of 70 years. Mr. Bridgman was a native of this town and died in the house in which he was born. He was formerly a prominent business man, owning and occupying the store where his two sons, E. S. A. B. Bridgman, now located in town, from 1855 to 1881 as was postmaster. Since the death of his wife, a little more than a year ago, he has been suffering from a chronic illness, and he died at the beginning of winter, when he was more than usually frail.

His death was a great loss to the village. His funeral was held at the Belmont house on Saturday afternoon at 10 o'clock. Burial was made in the cemetery. By this death another home circle is broken up. The five sons and one daughter of the deceased are all living in the village. Postmaster W. E. Bridgman occupied a part of the household.

NORTHAMPTON.—The first branch ladies' league in the city including those at Leeds and Lawrence number about 1100 members, and are a great and useful growing power in the community. Considerable interest is expressed as to what part, if any, they will take in local politics.

The civil service commission, backed by an opinion from the attorney general, has decided that the Night Watchmen (Brisco) is dissolved and Clark will stand first in the examination put in his place. They will compete the next and attempt to pay from $100 to $1000 each for violating the civil service law.

Justice F. H. How of Worcester has been chosen a justice of the Clark institute in place of Mr. Talbot.

The estate of A. W. Brown and Co., insolvent, has been appraised at $1100, and as it was investigated for some $2000 the common creditors will receive nothing.

About 5000 were employed by the Denison company were on strike Monday night. The company offered to compromise at five per cent, but could not come to an agreement with their union.

Mrs. Lydia M. Moore will sue the city for $5000 damages for injuries sustained by falling on an icy sidewalk.

A third meeting of Wm. Hall's creditors was held Saturday, and several claims were proved.

ENDIMONT.—The closing lecture of the summer course was given last Wednesday evening by Rev. Dr. H. Brown of Brown University, his theme being "Men made, self-made, and unmade."
